Thump, creaak, clink-clunk . . . MOOOOO!

Mr. and Mrs. Noodleman don't know what to do. They've left city life behind and moved to the country with hopes of being farmers. But their dreams turn grim when nightly visits from Boo Cow scare the Noodlemans' hens so much, they won't lay any eggs! These first-time farmers are at a loss. Why is Boo Cow haunting them, and how can they banish this ghostly bovine visitor?

Baehr's fun and accessible text make this book a great read-aloud. With unexpected twists and turns, Boo Cow keeps readers guessing as they attempt to solve the mystery on the Noodlemans' farm.

Patricia Baehr is the author of eleven books for children, including Mouse in the House (Holiday House) and School Isn't Fair! (Simon & Schuster). She lives in Bayville, New York.

Margot Apple has illustrated over sixty children's books, including Cowboy Slim and the best-selling Sheep series (Houghton Mifflin). Margot lives in Shelburne Falls, Massachusetts.
